Notice to Candidates proceeding to Examination

1. The English text-books prescribed for this Examination are, in great measure, prescribed for the purpose of indicating the scope and subject matter of the examination; but, on all subjects where the law in force in New South Wales differs from the English law, candidates are required to make themselves acquainted with the law in force in New South Wales. Text-books or parts of text-books which require to be read in connection with the local statutes are marked with an asterisk.

2. Candidates are reminded that English Statutes passed after the 25th July, 1828, are not in force in this State, except in cases where the enactment has been made binding by the Imperial Parliament, either expressly or by necessary implication. At the same time, a considerable number of English Statutes passed after that date (such as the English Wills Act, 1837) have been expressly adopted by the local Legislature; whilst a considerable number of other local enactments are based on similar enactments passed in the United Kingdom. As to how far law in force in England prior to the 25th July, 1828, applies in New South Wales, reference may be made to Webb's "Imperial Law". As to how far English Statutes have been adopted by, or embodied in, local legislation, reference may be made to Curlewis's "Tables of Statutes".

3. In cases where local Statutes are expressly prescribed as subjects for examination, the examination will be confined, so far as possible, to the general tenor and essential, or more important, provisions of the Statutes referred to; or, in other words, to such matters as would find a place in a student's text-book. The English text-book will serve, to some extent, as a guide in this matter. Candidates may also obtain a few copies of previous papers, for the purpose of guidance, on applying to the Secretary of the Board.

4. Candidates are reminded that the State Laws on some of the subjects included in these examinations are liable to be superseded by Federal Legislation; whilst, on other subjects, the existing Acts are likely to be displaced by Consolidated Acts. Candidates are further reminded that they are liable to be examined in any Acts or Rules relating to the subjects of these examinations passed or made by either the State or the Federal Parliament more than six calendar months prior to the date at which such examinations may be held.

5. Where chapters, sections or pages are referred to, the reference is to be deemed "inclusive" unless otherwise expressed.

CHILD WELFARE RULES.

NOTE—

(1) Students are reminded that Hargreaves, "Introduction to Land Law" is concerned with the law of England. Many of the provisions of the English statutes passed since 25th August, 1828, and referred to in this book, have been adopted by or repealed in local legislation, but many have not, and in particular the general reforms contained in the English property legislation of 1925 have not been copied here. The book is to be read primarily as an introduction to the provisions of the Conveyancing Act and the Real Property Act.

(2) Students are also reminded that Anson, "Law of Contract" is concerned with the law of England and some of the statutory provisions referred to therein differ from those in force in N.S.W. Generally, students should check the applicability in N.S.W. of the statutes mentioned and should note, in particular, the following matters:—(a) in reference to the contracts required to be evidenced in writing under the Statute of Frauds and the Sale of Goods Act, reference should be made to the 19th and 20th editions of Anson, since English amendments in 1954 have not been adopted in N.S.W.; (b) the English Infants' Relief Act, 1874, has not been adopted in N.S.W.; and (c) the special provisions of the N.S.W. Gaming and Betting Act, 1912 (as amended), in relation to betting with infants, should be referred to.

(3) Candidates will not be expected to know the decisions on the enactments specified in 3, 4, 5 and 6 above, but they will be expected to understand the general meaning and effect of the enactments. They are therefore recommended to study in addition to the enactments themselves the explanation of them in relevant parts of Millard, "Law of Real Property in New South Wales" and Baalman, "The Torrens System in New South Wales".

Section I, Paper B of the Final Law Examination be amended by rescinding Part 1 and substituting the following therefor:—

Notice to Candidates

1. The English text-books prescribed for these examinations are, in a great measure, prescribed for the purpose of indicating the scope and subject matter of the examination: But, on all subjects where the law in force in New South Wales differs from the English Law, candidates are required to make themselves acquainted with the law in force in New South Wales. Text-books or parts of books which require to be read in connection with local statutes are marked with an asterisk.

2. Candidates are reminded that English statutes, passed after the 25th July, 1828, are not in force in this State, except in cases where the enactment has been made binding by the Imperial Parliament, either expressly or by necessary implication. At the same time, a considerable number of English statutes passed after that date (such as the English Wills Act, 1837) have been expressly adopted by the local legislature; whilst a considerable number of local enactments have been based on similar enactments previously passed in the United Kingdom. As to how far law in force in England prior to 25th July, 1828, applies in New South Wales, reference may be made to Webb's "Imperial Law". As to how far English statutes have been adopted by, or embodied in, local legislation, reference may be made to Curlewis' "Tables of Statutes".

3. In cases where local statutes are expressly prescribed as subjects for examination, the examination will be confined, so far as possible, to the general tenor and essential or more important provisions of the statutes referred to; or, in other words, to such matters as would find a place in a student's text-book. The English text-books will serve, to some extent, as a guide in this matter.

4. Candidates are reminded that the State laws on some of the subjects included in these examinations are liable to be superseded by Federal legislation; whilst on other subjects the existing Acts may be displaced by Consolidated Acts. Candidates are further reminded they are liable to be examined in any Acts or Rules relating to the subjects of these examinations passed or made by either the State or the Federal Parliament more than six calendar months prior to the date at which such examinations may be held.

5. Candidates are also advised, prior to entering on their studies for the final examination, to make themselves acquainted with the general tenor of both the Interpretation Act, 1897 (New South Wales), and the Acts Interpretation Act, 1901 (Commonwealth); whilst they are also reminded that the interpretation of Imperial statutes, applicable in either State or Commonwealth, is governed by the Interpretation Act, 1889 (Imperial).

6. Where chapters, sections, or pages are referred to, the reference is to be deemed "inclusive", unless otherwise expressed.
